East Goshen Parks & Recreation Committed to Environmental Resilience

The Pat King Pollinator Garden was placed next to our flagship playground, to encourage youth involvement in environmental education efforts. Installed in 2016, it was later awarded a Pennsylvania Horticulture Society Garden of Distinction Award, one of 9 out of 300 submissions. Project partners were the West Chester Garden Club, PECO Green Region and Conservancy Board.

EGPR has a public-private partnership with Carmen's Honey and Bellingham Senior Living named the Beehives at the Blacksmith Shop. Over 100 kids have graduated as "Junior Beekeepers" and numerous environmental educational classes have been held.

EGTPR hosts e-Recycling events in our parks semi-annually. Since 2016, 75,000 lbs. of tv's, computers and other bulky electronic de-vices have been recycled rather than being thrown in area landfills.

In the last few years, over $8M has been invested in four passive park rehabilitations that encompass over 100 acres, two ponds, two streams and an eagle habitat.
